ANOTHER ANGLO-FRENCH CLASH NOW IMMINENT

INTERNATIONAL CRISIS IS NEAR OVER INDEMNITY

France Complicates Financial Plans of British Government.

BRIAND IS SCORED

British Charge Premier With Failure to Submit Allied Plan.

London, Sept. 6.—A new clash between England and France is developing with German indemnity as the chief issue at stake. The conflict over the reparations threatens an acute domestic situation as well as a new international crisis, it was declared by officials today.

France, by her action on German reparations payments has complicated the financial plans of the British government.

England had expected the reparations plan of the allies (drawn up a few weeks ago) to become effective at once and Austria Chamberlain, had written into the British budget, the sums which England expected to receive from Germany.

Premier Briand of France, has upset these plans.

It now develops that the last meeting of the supreme council was not only sterile on Upper Silesia but that the subsequent financial agreement has been discarded by France.

British officials charge Premier Briand of France refused to submit to the French chamber of deputies the inter-allied agreement because France has arranged payments directly from Germany through M. Loucheur, French minister of liberated regions and Herr Rathenau, minister of reconstruction in the German cabinet.

Senator Doumer, the French minister of finance, had accepted the allied plan for distribution of German indemnity although it provided payments to other countries before France. When this agreement was handed to Premier Briand he refused to accept it on behalf of France and refused to submit it to the chamber of deputies.

In the meantime conferences were going on between Herr Rathenau and M. Loucheur, and as a result of these "direct action" conferences, and in consequence of the rejection of the allied plan for distribution of indemnity it is claimed by British officials that France will receive more and England will receive less than had been agreed upon originally.

As the situation stands at present England and Italy are in line and are supposed to have drawn closer to Germany in a commercial way because of their opposition to French pressure upon Germany. However, Germany is accused of giving France preference in reparations payments despite the amicable attitude of the Anglo-Italian statesmen.

DOWNNEY FAILS TO WREST TITLE FROM EASTERN BOXER

New York, Sept. 6.—Johnny Wilson is still wearing the middleweight championship crown today even though it is tilted at a previous angle.

The Charleston claimant of a title made immortal by Fitzsimmons, Ketchel and Rapke, earned a draw with Bryan Downey at the end of 12 rounds in Tex Rickard's big pine saucer at Jersey City labor day and the question of who's who remains unsettled.

CIDER MAKING STARTED

Violence Breaks Out In Coal Fields Of Illinois

No Confirmation of Reports of Battles Have Yet Been Received—Conditions Known To Be Unsettled.

Harrisburg Ill., Spt. 6.—Efforts were being made here early today to obtain verification of reports of outbreaks of violence involving striking Felspar miners and imported guards in the Hardin county fields. Because of crippled telephone and telegraph wires no confirmation of reports of fighting has been obtained.

One report said that a battle was fought yesterday near Rosiclare

MUTINY REPORT ON BOARD SHIP IS EXAGGERATED

New York, Sept. 6.—A wireless "S. O. S." to police headquarters reporting mutiny on board the shipping board freighter Chester Kiawanis off quarantine sent the police boat John F. Hyland, scurrying down the bay under full steam early today.

When inspector Hallock, commanding the Hyland, boarded the Kiawanis, he found nothing more serious than a free for all fight between the thirty white and twelve black members of the crew. A few strokes of the night stick soon brought calm.

PREDICT EARLY WITHDRAWAL OF FEDERAL TROOPS

Conditions in West Virginia Mining Field Tranquil.

BELIEVE WORST OVER

Practically All Miners Have Returned To Their Homes

Washington, Sept. 6.—Orders for the withdrawal of the 26th U. S. infantry from the West Virginia riot zone and its return to its station at Camp Dix, N. J., will be issued from the war department late today.

Secretary of War Weeks so announced this afternoon after a short conference with President Harding.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The situation in the West Virginia mine war is so favorable that Brig. General H. H. Bandholtz, officer in charge of the general situation there, recommended to the war department today that half the troops be taken away immediately, the "civil war" having been averted.

Gen. Bandholtz's recommendation was made to Secretary of War Weeks after an extensive survey of the field. President Harding who reached Washington at noon will be consulted before the withdrawal is ordered but it was considered virtually certain that the general's recommendation would be followed.

Washington, Sept. 6.—A lengthy report on conditions in the West Virginia mine war zone was received at the War Department today from Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, officer in charge of the general situation.

Gen. Bandholtz's report was made after he had conducted an extensive survey of the entire field, in which he found conditions tranquil. Early withdrawal of federal troops now patrolling the mine war zone was forecast today by officials here in view of the complete quiet which has prevailed since the regulars reached the scene of conflict.

High officials of the administration were loath to order the troops into West Virginia and it was predicted today that they will seize the first opportunity to bring them out.

What will follow the withdrawal of the regulars is a matter of conjecture among officials here. Some officials believe that the situation has quieted to such an extent that both sides will take a more sober view of the difficulties that have led to open warfare. Others, however, incline to the belief that the struggle between the miners and the operators will be renewed with fresh intensity as soon as the soldiers leave.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 6.—All points on the Logan-Boone border, where industrial warfare has raged for ten days, were quiet this morning, according to reports reaching the office of Brig. General H. H. Bandholtz, in command of U. S. troops in the trouble zone.

U. S. troops are in complete control, and practically all miners have returned to their homes, according to morning reports.

and other reports said there were outbreaks at Elizabethtown. Organizers for the unions are said to have been driven out by mine guards while bands of miners are declared to have stopped travelers on the road and warned them to stay away from Rosiclare. Conditions in the Hardin county field have been unsettled since last November when the miners went on strike demanding higher wages.

U. S. COMMANDER ON MINGO FRONT

Whatever the Government does in West Virginia is largely the result of the recommendations of General H. H. Bandholtz. At the first suggestion that Federal intervention might become necessary General Bandholtz was rushed to the scene of the disturbance and asked to report direct to President Harding. Shortly after General Bandholtz arrived the President issued an ultimatum to the miners.

THREE CONVICTED BANDITS ESCAPE FROM OHIO JAIL

Conspirators Walk Out Of Jail at Toledo Early Monday Night

Toledo, O., Sept. 6.—City, county and federal officers spent yesterday afternoon and all night scouring the city and surrounding country for some clue to the whereabouts of Joe Urbaytis, Charley Schultz and George Lewis, who escaped from the county jail Monday noon. Not the slightest clue has been found up to 9 o'clock this morning. The men had been held with a number of others in connection with the $1,000,000 post office robbery last February. Their escape was effected by tricking a turnkey into opening a gate.

Toledo, Sept. 6.—Three men convicted of conspiracy in the $1,000,000 postoffice robbery here last Feb. 17, and awaiting trial for alleged robbery in the same case, escaped from the Lucas County jail early last evening without firing a shot. The men are Joe Urbaytis, George Lewis, alias George Rogers, and Charles Schultz. All three are declared by postoffice authorities to have been actual participants in the robbery and were to have gone on trial early next month.

The escape was effected by overpowering two deputy sheriffs who were left in charge of a jail full of prisoners, including eight more convicted in the postoffice robbery while Sheriff Jack Taylor was attending the county fair.

TRUCK LAW GOES INTO EFFECT ON TUESDAY IN OHIO

Columbus, Sept. 6.—The Burke law, basing permitted loads of trucks on the width of tires, making 10 tons the maximum weight of truck and load and giving the state highway department authority to issue seasonal restrictions, is one of 44 new laws effective today.

County commissioners are authorized but not compelled to appropriate funds for enforcement and sheriffs also are authorized to detail one or more deputies to enforce the law.

Effective today also is the Endly law requiring finger prints to be taken of all persons arrested for felonies. These records are to be sent to the State superintendent of criminal identification, who must send copies to chiefs of police and sheriffs.

The superintendent of identification is to be named by the director of public welfare at a salary of $3,600 and an assistant at $3,000.

Another act now in force is the Brand law requiring commercial bread to be made only in one-pound, pound and a half or two-pound sizes, and providing that the weight be stamped on the wrapper or in the loaf. The department of agriculture has given bakeries 60 days, however, to dispose of old wrappers.

Other new laws are: Reynolds act, making killing of a police officer first degree murder; Gardner measures, increasing salaries of probate judges; Dewees act, requiring pawn brokers to obtain licenses from the state securities department; Morris bill, making penalty for robbery 25 to 35 years in the penitentiary; Mede law giving probate judges fees in inheritance tax cases; and Correll law, requiring observance of Prohibition day annually in schools.

MORE TROUBLE IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS NEAR

Latin-American Desertion May Have Effect on Southern Nations

CHILE MAY ACT

Europeans Attempting to Stave Off Bolivia-Chile Fight

Geneva, Sept. 6.—The territorial and treaty dispute between Bolivia and Chile, which threatened to cause a near withdrawal from the league of nations failed to come up in the league of nations assembly meeting today. The Bolivian delegates said the fight had only been postponed as they intended to press their claims against Chile. The Chileans threatened withdrawal of their country from the league if the Bolivian-Chilean treaty of 1894 were taken up for revision.

The Chilean Bolivian fight was crowded out by a long argument over the method of organizing committees.

Geneva, Sept. 6.—Despite statements issued from the official propaganda bureau of the league of nations tending to depreciate the effect of desertion of Latin-American states from the league meeting in session here today, it is no longer a secret that the leaders fear the results upon all south and central America.

The assembly at the second session of the present meeting began discussion of the agenda. The Europeans are trying to stave off a fight between Bolivia and Chile over disputed territory. The European statesmen fear that Chile may follow Argentina's action in withdrawing from the league.

The Chilean delegation has already served notice their country probably would withdraw if the league agreed to Bolivia's request to take up the South American quarrel. The Bolivians intimated that they might ask for a revision of the treaty following the war of 1894 in which Bolivia claims that Chile obtained undue advantages.

Chile maintains the league has no right to consider old privileges that were awarded under a treaty negotiated many years before the league was created. If Bolivia becomes aggressive in her attitude the situation may become serious.

The defeat of Dr. Dacuna of Brazil for the presidency of the assembly by foreign Minister Van Karnabeek of Holland, marked the beginning of the dwindling of the strong Latin-American position in the league. Dr. Van Karnabeek's candidacy was engineered by that able British diplomat, A. J. Balfour. The Spanish speaking states, weakened by the loss of Argentina and the absence of several central American states were unable to "put Dr. Dacuna across."

Dr. Canelas, head of the Bolivian delegation announced that Bolivia is willing to delay action on the Chilean treaty if the league leaders desire time for further study of the situation, but that Bolivia will not withdraw her demands.

Sir Robert Cecil, of Great Britain, one of the chief sponsors for the league in the days of its infancy, during other European statesmen fear that if South Americans are out-generated and defeated by the Europeans they may eventually join the proposed new combination of powers which President Harding has in view.

The Canadian delegates took an active part in the political maneuvers prior to the election of a president yesterday. They favored the election of Dr. Aguero of Cuba, on account of his strong position in the assembly. The Canadians argued also that he was believed to be popular in the United States.

ESCAPE EFFECTED BY BANDIT AGAIN

Irish Want Time Limit For Offer's Acceptance

Devalera Would Welcome Such Arrangement It Is Believed as it Would Aid Him in Dealing With the Radicals.

London, Sept. 6.—Belief that Eamonn DeValera would welcome a time limit from the British government in which to accept the six chief points of the original English peace offer was expressed in a dispatch received by the Irish office today from Dublin castle. It was pointed out that a time limit would strengthen DeValera's hand in dealing with the Irish radicals in general.

The tone of the message was only optimistic in part, however. It reported pessimism on the part of the British military authorities in Ireland over the activity of the military branch of the Sinn Fein. The Irish republican army is constantly drilling. It has secured many guns and great quantities of ammunition.

"It is realized, said the dispatch in quoting British military officials, that if the truce is ended it will mean war operations on the largest possible scale.

The International News Service was informed Premier Lloyd George was informed. Colonial minister Churchill, Austen Chamberlain, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Robert Horne—all members of the cabinet—favor a time limit for the Sinn Fein's acceptance of the principle of the English offer. Three other members of the government—Stanley Baldwin, Edward Shortt and H. A. L. Fisher—opposed an ultimatum.

THREAT OF NEW WAR THREATENS EUROPE'S PEACE

Hungarian Forces Reported To Have Invaded Austria.

WARNING IS SENT

Italian Statesmen Fear War Will Result By Late Action.

London, Sept. 6.—Threat of a new war hung over central Europe today. Hungarian irregulars were reported to have invaded Austria, occupying territory after a battle in which many were killed. Delivery of a message of warning from the inter allied council of ambassadors to Hungary has been held up at the request of Italy. He note is being strengthened and may be transformed into an actual ultimatum. Italy fears the "little entente" will send troops to oust the Hungarian irregulars unless they can be induced to withdraw by peaceful measures. If the "little entente" moves to throw out the Hungarians from West Hungary, Italian statesmen fear war.

The "little entente" is composed of Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania. All these powers are at loggerheads with Hungary.

The allies have been aroused to some anxiety by news of monarchist activities by the Hungarians at Streimanger.

Representations have been made to Switzerland regarding former Emperor Charles and the Swiss government replied that he is being carefully watched to prevent his departure to attempt another restoration coup.

WILL CHECK AUTO TAX VALUATION

Columbus, Sept. 6.—State Auto Register Snow yesterday called attention to the new law requiring that applications for next year's license tags, must be made in duplicate, must contain not only the name and address of the owner but also the year in which the machine was built.

This is the Hopely law, designed chiefly as a taxation measure. One of the application blanks is to be returned by the state to the county auditor, so he may ascertain whether machines are on the duplicate in accordance with the valuation scale fixed by law.

Double shifts will have to be put on at the penitentiary, Snow said, in order to complete the required number of license plates by December, when 500,000 will be shipped to distribution points over the state. Secretary of State Smith has asked that 600,000 sets of passenger tags and 100,000 truck plates be ready in December.

Don't Fear the Masher, Girls! Here's a Hint

PACK HIS DINNER

PAIL THIS WAY

BY SISTER MARY

OMEN who must pack a dinner pail every morning soon acquire a little knack of their own. They will put the sweet and fruit in the bottom of the pail and the cold meat and sandwiches on top. And they never forget salt. When a man opens a pail packed in this fashion he can begin immediately to eat without lifting half of his food out onto the curb stone.

For fall and winter heartier food is necessary than during the spring and summer.

Lima beans, tomato and bacon sandwiches, peanut sandwiches, apple turn-over, coffee.

Welsh rarebit sandwiches, corned beef sandwiches, celery, prune jelly with nuts, coffee. An apple, pear or grapes could be added to each luncheon.

LIMA BEAN, TOMATO AND BACON SANDWICH

Cooked lima beans, sliced tomato, crisp fried bacon, mustard or salad dressing.

Chop the beans finely. Chop the bacon. There should be half as much bacon as there are beans. Put a slice of tomato on buttered whole wheat bread, add beans and bacon and season with mustard, salad dressing or salt and paprika and a tiny bit of onion salt.

APPLE TURN-OVER

Apples, sugar, pie crust.

Pare, quarter, core and slice apples. Allow about 1-4 cup sugar, for each turnover, depending on the tartness of the apples. If the fruit is juicy add 1 teaspoonful of flour to 1-4 cup sugar. Cut pie crust in five-inch rounds with a big cutter. Wet edges with cold water. On one side of the round put a big spoonful of sliced apples mixed with sugar. Fold over the other side of the pie crust, pinch the edges together, cut two gashes on top and bake on a floured pan in a moderate oven.

CORNED BEEF SANDWICHES

Boil corned beef until tender. Pick in shreds and mix with salad dressing. Some men prefer grated horse radish or mustard to salad dressings.

Prune jelly is a simple, wholesome dessert that is very good without a sauce. Put in a jelly glass with chopped nuts sprinkled over it, it packs perfectly.

SHE CARRIES A WEAPON

MRS. ELENA DEHART

Here's the stunt, girls! You needn't fear the too persistent masher any longer.

Clip a bit of the garden hose and carry it along when you venture out alone after dusk.

That is what Mrs. Elena DeHart, a widow of New York, does. Mrs. DeHart has vanquished some fifty or more of the species.

"Women are too timorous," says Mrs. DeHart, "they are afraid to use the strength they have and they are afraid to shriek for a policeman."

"I never trounce a man who is trying to strike up a harmless flirtation, he backs off instantly when he sees he has picked the wrong woman," says Mrs. DeHart. "It's the insistent, impudent man who deserves to be roughly treated and taken to law if necessary."

DON'T LET 'EM GET CHAPPED

By MME. MOREAU

Paris.—With cold days just in the offing, you're getting anxious about things with which to keep your lips soft and pretty and avoid the pain which accompanies the ugly cracks.

And here they are! Of course, you have been wanting to make your own preparations! They're not a bit difficult to handle and most of them are based on such ordinary things as white wax, spermaceti or beeswax, with the addition of almond oil, such specifics as benzoin, honey, unsalted butter.

Then you must add your own favorite scent to make them attractive and a bit of color if you wish.

An easy way to make a good preparation for chapped lips is to melt together with gentle heat two ounces of white wax one ounce of spermaceti. Then add two ounces of strained honey. Continue to heat and stir until well blended. Add in a thin stream four ounces of oil of almonds. Remove from the fire and continue stirring until the mixture is almost cold.

Add any kind of perfume you wish. Remember your type, though when you select it.

You're rather particular about the line of our lips, too, aren't you? And you've been watching in the mirror of late, wondering if it isn't getting a bit dragging.

Then, seated comfortably on your chair in front of your nice little mirror, pretend you're blowing soap bubbles at yourself. Watch the lines curve and the lips fill out. They'll begin to look young again. And be sure, whenever you're doing anything to make yourself look prettier that you are really comfortable, else all of your effort is lost!

SHORT HOUSEHOLD HINTS

CHILL THEM

Chickens are best if they have been well chilled before cooking. The ice can be put right on the flesh with no bad effect.

HEADS UP!

If you are preparing asparagus stand it upright in the kettle and let the water reach only to the heads. They should not be covered when boiled.

SOUP

Soup should not actually boil, but should simmer. This blends it better without bringing out a too intense flavor.

SCALD IT

Scald the milk for your custard. It should then be poured hot on the eggs.

CLEAN ALABASTER

Wash soiled alabaster with soap and water. Whitewash the stained parts and let stand several hours. Then wash off the whitewash and rub the stained parts with a soft flannel.

FOR FRYING

Never put anything to fry into fat which is not very hot. If you do the food will soak up the fat and be heavy and hard to digest.

CABBAGE

Remove the lid from the pan while you are boiling cabbage if you would have a vegetable which is nicely colored.

BOIL SLOWLY

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

YOU NEVER CAN TELL

Will you kindly tell me how to get rid of nits in a child's hair? People tell me to use coal oil but I don't quite know how to use it. Will you tell me how much to use at a time and do you have to mix water with it, also do you have to wash the child's head in it, or just comb it through hair? Is it injurious to the hair and scalp? My little girl, 9 years of age, never had nits in her head before, and it is a mystery how she got them; the children in this part of the city that she plays with seem very clean, but one can never tell. I thank you in anticipation of an early reply.

Answer—Cut the hair very short; not necessarily a crop. (Boys are best cropped that have this trouble.) Then at night, three nights hand running, soak the hair with Tincture of

SHE WAS TOO HELPLESS

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

HE was a fragile little lady, flower-like, exquisite, lovely.

He used to like to watch her—just the wonder of her delicate beauty.

And he was proud, so proud, when finally he took her home and showed her to his family as their relative—his wife! It was a pleasure to shut windows, bring her wraps and show her every attention he possibly could.

He was wondrously happy over it—at first. But with the honeymoon over and the work at the office piling on a little more heavily all of the time, the thing palled. Finally it irritated him.

He used to wonder, sometimes why she didn't get the scarf she needed for her shoulders herself instead of interrupting the few quiet hours he had after dinner.

It annoyed him to be asked continually to put down this window or shut that door so a draft would not strike her. She had hands, why couldn't she have done it herself—he thought.

When she wanted a drink of water she asked him to get it for her and if the book she had been reading had been left upstairs she asked him to bring it.

And the bills, the water bills, gas bills and electric bills—she would have paid them in time to get the discount, but the weather had been so sharp and she feared going out in it, she explained and if she didn't get to it in a day or two he could take care of them next week.

And so, finally, in order to get away from a constant reminder of delicacy he once thought he admired, he spent his evenings alone. If she sat on the veranda, he sought the living room. If she read in the living room he went upstairs.

And things kept going from bad to worse because the fragile little lady was not clever enough to understand that when a man marries, some of his ideals reverse.

FRUIT STAINS

Unless fruit stains are too old they can be removed by washing in hot water in which baking soda has been dissolved. Old stains can be removed by putting the stain over a basin of very hot water and rubbing it out with salts of lemon.

NOUGAT

Melt a pound of sugar in a copper sugar boiler, putting a dessert spoon of lemon juice in for each pound of sugar, then adding double the weight of sugar in almonds which have already been blanched. The nuts should not be hot when put in to the syrup. For lining the mold into which you pour the nougat, small pieces of nougat should be pressed into the mold with lemon.

PURPLE ASTERS ARE LOVELY

It was an aster luncheon the pretty young woman was telling about. "One of the prettiest affairs she had ever attended," she called it. About the rooms in which the guests were, even the rooms where the wraps were put upstairs, were great clusters of purple asters and goldenslow.

On the table a low green pottery bowl, in which was a flower holder, held purple asters in loose arrangement.

Grape juice was served in tall glasses put on grape leaves. A delicious grape sherbet, decorated with candied violet petals, finished the menu and the plates on which this was served were set in wreaths of purple asters.

The soft flickering light came from yellow tapers in crystal holders.

CURABLE

One of the reasons why our friend of yesterday suffers so is his anxiety as to his means and his family. He has not set money aside against a rainy day. Who does; or, perhaps I should say, who can, nowadays? He was not wise in time; who is? But this, of course, must not weigh in the scale against his recovery. He is going to be sick a long time, after which he will, no doubt, outlive many of his neighbors. And he need not fear a sudden death, for that is a very rare happening among well taken care of heart cases. Our friend cannot pay a doctor. Well, then, let him enter a good hospital; fortunately in his city there is an excellent one. And he has got to proceed on the basis that he is, and will be, for many months a sick man. If he understands this he will live; if he does not, he will not live.

strengthens; too must rest weakens (Is it not the part of kindness to put this plainly?)

The treatment in every case will differ; but certain things are essential. (1) The diet has got to have in it as few proteids (meats, fish, eggs) as the patient can get along with, and as much as possible of cereals, fruits, vegetables and cheese, to take the place of the meats. No soups. (2) All the food must be absolutely salt free. (3) Absolute rest in bed for weeks or months; perhaps later, graduated work. (4) The kidney excretion must equal in amount the fluid taken into the body. That is, if you drink milk, water, or other fluids, up to 30 ounces you have to pass thirty ounces. ## TEE, FAIRWAY, AND GREEN

BY CHICK EVANS

DON'T FORGET YOUR CLUBHEAD

I was talking to Jim Barnes during the Open Championship this summer and expressed dissatisfaction with my game. He answered briefly: "You are trying to hit him too hard." I was so struck with the truth of the statement that I am going to make it the text of my article today.

As I thought about my game, I felt, although of course I could not be absolutely sure, that my whole weakness consisted in "not waiting for the clubhead." Perhaps this little golfing expression needs a little explanation. In the playing of golf I consider the proper timing of the meeting of the clubhead and ball supremely important, yet it is probably the hardest thing in golf to bring about. When achieved, however, the rhythm of the stroke is unmistakable. It is surprising how much of the job the clubhead, when properly introduced does. It is not brute force that makes the club head do its work properly, and that is why many a slight chug drives as well as the big husky ones. The college man with his rush of youthful strength swings at tremendous speed at the ball, and sometimes it goes and usually it does not. Only the other day a golfer remarked almost tearfully that he had hit the ball as hard as he could and he is much stronger than I, yet the ball had gone but a short distance. He repeated "I know that I am stronger than you!" I would bet dollars to doughnuts that he was swinging after the head of his clubhead" which was the meaning Jim Barnes wanted to convey to me. It is like the prizefighter who punches without getting his weight behind the punch. Inaccurate positioning of the hands ahead of the clubhead, or if you wait too long for the clubhead you will hook.

These troubles usually come when you tighten up, for the ideal swing is like a weight at the end of a string, and this cannot be done unless you are comfortable and relaxed. It was the class of the players at the Open Tourney with their terrific smashes that made me tighten up and go at the ball for all that I was worth.

Sometimes I just hold my body still at the end of the backstroke and do not move it until the clubhead meets the ball in an unmistakable "feel." It is after that the follow through helps, so much, and it is the reason why it does not help if you are late or early with the clubhead. All the strength in the world will not push the ball far if you have not waited for the clubhead to do its share of the work. Hold tight in the fingers is a good little hint I discovered the other day. The very fact that the clubs have varying lefts shows that they are to be brought into play so that they will work.

It is hard to learn to "wait for the clubhead" but it will pay in happy returns before the year is out. Do not hurry the shot; do not get ahead of it. Remember that greater distance comes only when the club head leads the rhythm of strengths. Maybe you can start this by swinging easier and shorter, but be careful not to swing so short that there is no force to the blow.

KINDERGARTEN WILL OPEN ON MONDAY

THE "STATUS" OF OUR RELATIONS WITH MEXICO.

President Obregon's statement in his address to the Mexican Congress regarding the signing of a treaty with the United States reversed the optimistic view that had been taken in Washington of Mexican relations, after it was announced that the Mexican Supreme Court had declared Article XXVII of the Constitution could not be applied retroactively.

President Obregon's pronouncement was interpreted as a crisis in the pending negotiations between the two nations as the Mexican Chief Executive has contended for some time in the interchanges which have been going on that he could not consent to sign a treaty unless his Government were first granted recognition by the United States. He informed the State Department some weeks ago that, without recognition, he was not possessed of the constitutional authority to make a treaty such as proposed by this Government.

The Obregon message means explicitly that there has been no progress made in the negotiations which have been carried on between the Mexican Foreign Office and Charles T. Summerlin, Charge d'Affaires for the last few weeks.

The draft of a treaty between the two Governments was taken to Mexico City by Mr. Summerlin when he left after extended conferences with Secretary Hughes and Henry P. Fletcher, under Secretary. After a series of preliminary negotiations President Obregon informed Mr. Summerlin that he saw no objections to the treaty or its terms, but that he would insist on recognition of his Government first. Members of the Obregon Cabinet, who are anti-American in their sympathies, are believed to have caused the Mexican President to take that position. They convinced him that negotiation of a treaty prior to recognition would be disastrous to his Administration and might result in his overthrow.

AMBASSADOR HERRICK FINDS DOMICILE IN PARIS AT LAST.

The American Ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, has finally found a Paris residence after a search of a month and a half, during which the Ambassador and the members of his staff, who assisted him, despaired of obtaining suitable quarters for an ambassadorial home.

Mr. Herrick has signed a lease for the palatial mansion of Prince and Princess Jacques de Broglie at 16 Avenue de Messine. Although the Ambassador would not reveal the amount paid, it is learned that the sum represents a substantial fortune in France.

The mansion, which is one of the most beautiful in the exclusive Monceau Park quarter, is in sharp contrast with the simple country villa which Mr. Herrick has been occupying at Garches, near St. Cloud. Since his arrival on July 14 the Ambassador has been forced to live outside Paris in a house which was originally taken by his son, Parmely Herrick.

The Ambassador's difficulty in finding a home has been sympathetically followed by Parisians and the press, the latter referring to him as "the homeless Ambassador." French officials also assisted in the search for a home.

YES-ING THE BOSS.

Yes-ing the Boss is a great indoor sport—agreeing with him in everything that he proposes or suggests, says Clifford A. Sloan in Forbes Magazine (New York).

"Two weeks ago, on a train from Chicago, I met a man of the highest and most successful of his generation and he told me that his hardest job was to get men big enough, who had backbone enough, to disagree with the Boss, men who had opinions of their own and ideas of their own, and who were not afraid to express these opinions and ideas.

"There are two classes of men who yes the Boss. The first is the pin-headed fellow who cannot see any suggestion than his own. The last is the chap who has ideas, who is not afraid to suggest them, but who is big enough to admit that the other fellow's plan is better and then to get behind the big idea.

"If you've an idea to offer, a plan to suggest whereby this or that work can be done more effectively, offer it! The Boss cannot know the detail work of every department and of every desk. He wants you to study your work, to improve it, no matter how unimportant your job may seem to you. He wants ideas from you. But if a better plan than yours is suggested, be broad-minded, admit it and get behind the Big Idea.

"Failure to make suggestions is not helping the Boss. Agreeing with him in everything he suggests is not helping him.

"Nor is it grooming yourself for a bigger job and bigger responsibilities."

CANNOT SPEAK ILL OF THE GREENVILLE ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY.

If anyone should throw a stone out into Broadway, Greenville, Ohio, which is the main street of that thriving municipality, he couldn't help hitting at least one person who owns stock in the Greenville Electric Light & Power Co.

That, according to D. L. Gaskill, president of the company, together with the fact that the company gives excellent service, is the reason why no one can speak ill of the electric light company in this city without starting a fight.

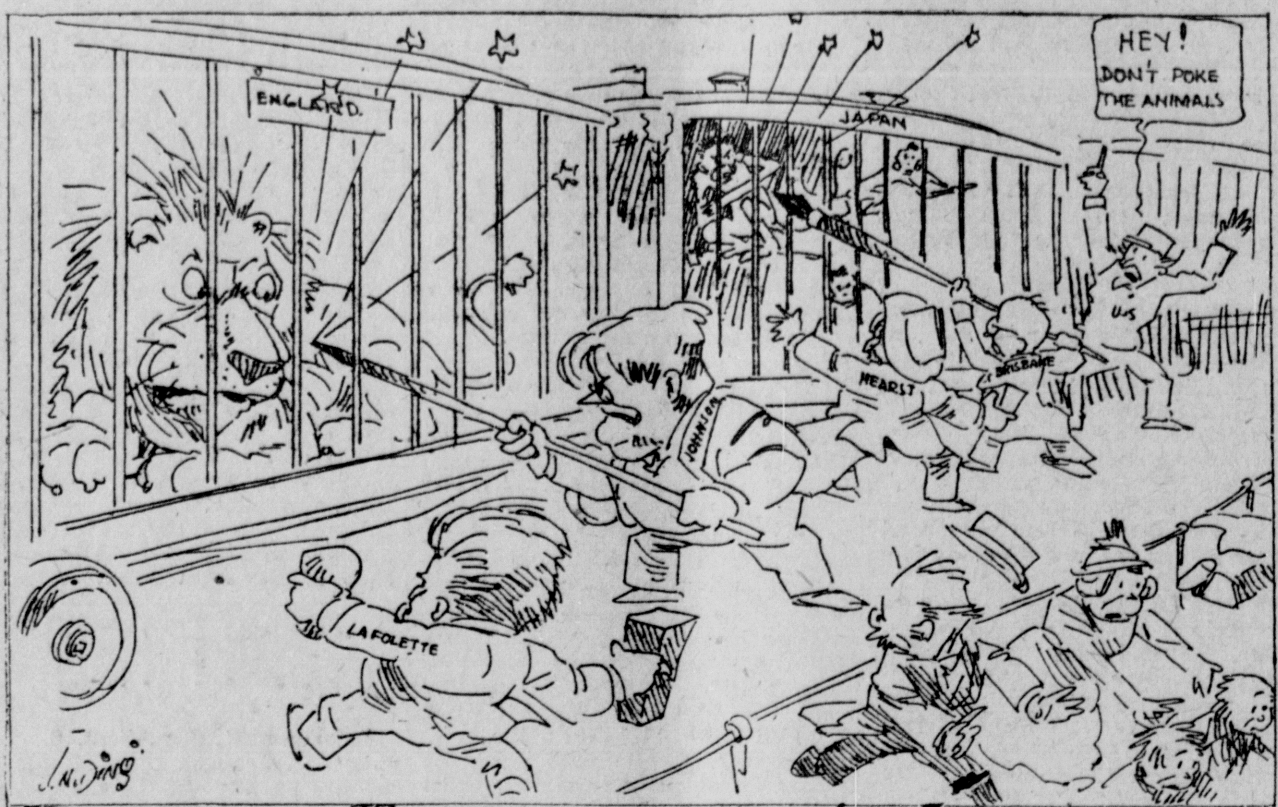

Although the last census gives this city a population of only 7,104 souls, which means that there are probably less than 2,000 homes in the whole city, the electric company has no less than 225 stockholders, which means each family out of every nine has a financial interest in the company.

Recently, when the company sold $166,000 worth of preferred stock, Mr. Gaskill had to reduce the amount everybody was eager to take so that all the old stockholders could get a chance to get a portion of it. The stock has always paid dividends of 10 per cent on the common and 7 per cent on the preferred.

THE WASHLADY'S COMPROMISE

The Xenia cordage mill on the Cincinnati pike will be operated at night as well as by day, starting tonight. It will give an additional number of persons employment.

The Waynesville Gazette is enthusiastic over the prospect of getting the Little Miami Traction road down that way. A traction line from Xenia to Waynesville through Springfield Valley is much needed and would do all parties good.

The Pan Handle is making much headway just now in the equipment of the Xenia-Springfield branch with electricity. When the announcement was first made the work of erecting poles to Springfield preparatory to the change was begun, but the work stopped.

Work was begun today on fitting up the old oil mill for Xenia Buggy Company, which will move to its new quarters within a few weeks. The main building will be given an overhauling and a new office will be fitted up.

A fine new automobile which was manufactured by Mr. Jacob Baldwin of this city, was shipped a few days ago to a purchaser in Chicago. Enroute to that city the train was wrecked and the vehicle badly damaged. It was returned here where it was repaired as good as new.

AT THE DOOR.

There's some one knocking at the door, and I shall rise and let him in; I'll show no visage grim or sore, but greet him with a cordial grin, and hang his hat upon the floor, and brace him up with kickless gin. I do not tremble any more when some one at the portal knocks, and fear it is some beastly bore who's come to bone me for the rocks that I am owing at the store, for shoes or sugar, sacks or socks. For now I pay my bills on time, and ask no man an hour to wait; I look upon it as a crime to fool the rustling merchant skate who sells me lollipops or lime, expecting pay on such a date. Time was when I gave little heed to keeping Credit good and bright; I blew in all my chicken-feed for every kind of vain delight, and let said Credit go to seed until it was a blowsy sight. Collectors chased me down the shore, and through the glen, and up the brae, and, as they toiled behind, they swore they'd get me yet, and make me pay; and when they thundered at my door I hid until they went away. It was a sport I did not hike, and always doging, here and there, and oft I called on Pete and Mike in stony accents of despair. But now I dodge no more, I hold that course to be a sin, and I regret the days of yore, when chased by bailiffs and their kin; when someone's knocking at the door, I do not fear to let him in.

SURVEY SHOWS HOW MOUNTAIN OF U. S. MONEY IS SPENT; RETURN TO PRE-WAR BASIS OF ECONOMY IS NOT EXPECTED

Washington—Grumbling as he pays his income tax and irritated by the extra cent or two which he pushes across the bar at the soda fountain, Mr. Average Citizen occasionally feels the pinch of Federal taxation, talks it over with his neighbor, and decides that an awful lot of money is needed to keep the Government running, but seldom realizes where all the dollars that Uncle Sam gathers into his Treasury go.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in his first estimate of the cost of operating the Government, figures that about four and a half billion dollars would be required to keep the official wheels of the nation revolving during the present fiscal year. The Secretary told Congress how much the Government needed, showed neat rows of figures to prove his deductions, and then the House proceeded to slice there and trim here in accordance with their own ideas of how much money Uncle Sam could get along with—or without. Departmental estimates of expenses are being given the careful "once over" nowadays under the suspicious eye of Charlie Dawes, official watch-dog of the public Treasury, but bureau chiefs—those who decide how much they need to keep things going—are set in their ways and hard to budge. The effects of the war, when the personnel of many departments increased enormously, are still felt; and although efforts have been made to return to normal working conditions, it is improbable that the comparatively cheaply operated government of pre-war days will ever be restored.

The biggest single item in Secretary Mellon's list of estimated expenditures for this fiscal year is the interest on the public debt, which is placed at almost a billion dollars, or nearly one-fourth of the total requirements of the Government.

There is to be, it is estimated, an expenditure of $545,206,204 to the railroads, under the Transportation act of 1920, and $551,354,865 for the retirement of the public debt, as required by law. The debt payments include: Sinking fund, $265,754,865; War Savings Securities, $100,000,000; miscellaneous debt redemptions, $100,000; Purchase of Liberty Bonds from foreign repayments, $30,500,000; redemptions of bonds and notes from estate taxes, $25,000,000; retirement Pittman act certificates, $70,000,000; retirement from F. R. B. franchise tax receipts, $50,000,000.

The legislative branch of the Government estimates that it will need $17,213,813 during the present year, while the Executive Department will get less than two million, its expenses being estimated at $1,897,751.

The estimates list their requirements as follows: State Department, $10,344,000; Department of Justice, $17,000,000; Post Office Department, $2,200,000; Interior Department, including pensions and Indian claims, $322,000,000; Department of Agriculture, $123,000,000; Department of Commerce, $19,923,000; Department of Labor, $5,252,887; independent offices, $13,484,516; District of Columbia, $22,187,663; miscellaneous, $62,500,000; postal deficiency, $60,000,000; Bureau of War Risk Insurance, $286,000,000; Public Health Service, $47,000,000; Collecting revenue, $53,110,189; all other Treasury departments, $99,457,795; Federal Board for Vocational Education, $162,565,184; Panama Canal, $10,000,000.

AN XENIA MAN GIVES EVIDENCE

The value of local evidence is indisputable. It is the kind of evidence we accept as true because we know we can prove it for ourselves. There has been plenty of such evidence in the Xenia papers lately, and this straightforward testimony has established a confidence in the minds of Xenia people that will not be easily shaken.

Mind Vacationing

Age is only a period to the mind. After half a century, the mind may still play with flowers and fashion mud-pies—even as when the body was young and lithe.

For with age and experience, the mind richens and grows brilliant in its abilities.

I am writing of the healthy mind—the clean mind, the working mind. To such a mind is drawn every beautiful thing in Nature and in human action, so far as it reaches out and desires.

How wonderful, then, must be constant vacations to an organ so capable of grasping and holding!

If the body takes upon itself new and invigorating spurts from occasional vacationing, how much more must the mind be refreshed and strengthened.

Just to be out where there is nothing but silence and the pungent fragrance of the woods—to hear at the press of the foot the crackle of the carpet of Nature, and know that it is a welcome, is to give to the mind ease and restfulness.

There is at times an incomparable joyousness in merely letting the mind run where it will—with nothing, absolutely nothing to do.

It wasn't very long ago that I walked with a friend to the top of a great hill. There were springs and little streams and abandoned lumber camps and old, unoccupied buildings, and thick woods all the way. Then, as though its cap had been removed, we stood upon the soft grass of the summit. I threw myself down as though upon a bed, and looked into the face of the sky, and told my mind to run off and play!

And for an hour or so I forgot that there was such a thing as a world in which work had to be done and responsibilities that had to be fathered.

My mind took a vacation. As yours may!

This Nurse Tells Mothers

How to Save Children from Skin Irritations and Soreness

West Carthage, N. Y.—"I am a graduate nurse, and I feel it a duty to owe to mothers whose little ones suffer from chafing, rashes, itching, scalding, or any skin irritation or soreness, to tell them that in all my experience as a nurse I have never found anything equal to Sykes Comfort Powder to heal and soothe the skin. Habitually used after a child's bath, it heals and prevents soreness and rashes." Mabel E. Miller, R. N., W. Carthage, N. Y.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

"MOVIES" ATTRACT SCHOOL KIDDIES

Chicago, Sept. 6.—The youngster who defined a hypocrite as "a kid that goes to school with a smile on his face" was all wrong, take it from 325,000 children who resumed school in Chicago today after the summer vacation.

Chicago school children returned to school with genuine pleasure for in every school building in the city motion pictures were shown. Through out the present school year, and permanently hereafter if the plan proves successful, motion pictures will be shown as a part of the course in Chicago's public schools.

The films to be displayed for the most part will be chosen for their educational value, but feature pictures, presenting some of the leading screen stars, will be displayed occasionally.

Chicago is the first city in the country, it is claimed, to adopt motion pictures as a method of instruction in the public schools.

Candidates for the squad will meet at the Post Hall, Detroit and Second streets, at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday and Friday evenings. It is likely that the Legion eleven will open the season with the Blackstones, the first game to be played Sept. 25. Besides considerable of the veterans in semi-pro football, some new material is showing up for the practice sessions.

BETTER BE SAFE THAN SORRY

Are your children's eyes strong enough to endure the hours of study and strain before them? If in doubt, bring them in and let us make an examination of their eyes, which we are unusually well equipped to do, then advise you what the trouble is, and the remedy. We examine the eyes thoroughly, grind the lenses and make the glasses, all for one charge, a reasonable one.

No More Worry When Guests Are Coming

Women's chief delight is in knowing that what is set before the visitors is equal to, if not superior to, that which may be found in the callers' home. RED WING Ice Creams are so made that they leave no fear in the heart of a host. They are ideal for groups of company or for single guests. RED WING creams are so made that they are attractive in appearance. Here and there the fresh fruit shows itself or the rainbow colors are seen in the layers of brick. Too, the plain bulk cream carries that rich tone which means pure cream. When placed on the plates and then on the table, there is an added beauty that may well make the wife proud. Then, when eaten, RED WING makes the guests pleased and happy. It's a friendship maker.

DINNERSTORIES

"Hello, old man!" exclaimed the top-hatted traveler as he clutched the arm of the man in the shabby tweed suit.

"Why, it's Tompkins!" replied the tweed suit man. And they shook hands. "And how are things?" went on the man in the top hat affectionately, as they walked on together. "I haven't seen you for months! Who are you working for now?" The man in the tweed suit sighed loudly. "Same old lot," he said sadly; "a wife and six kids!"

Lectured for lying abed late, the farmer's boy promised that in future he would "be up with the lark." The next morning the old farmer came in from his milking and found his son sitting on the stile and singing as blithely as though there was no such thing as work.

"Why, you young rascal," said the exasperated sire, "this is worse than sleeping. What do you mean by loafing on that stile and singing at the top of your voice?"

The lad grinned. "Why, dad, you told me to be like the lark, and that's all he does when he gets up early."

The proprietor of a greengrocery shop saw a small boy lingering around a barrel of apples exhibited on the pavement.

"Hey, there!" exclaimed the greengrocer, going to the door. "What are you doing?"

"Nothing," innocently answered the boy, with his eyes still fixed on the barrel.

"Nothing, eh?" doubtfully returned the man. "Aren't you trying to steal some of those apples?"

"No, sir," responded the youngster. "I'm trying not to."

A Dutch pastor makes it a point to welcome any strangers cordially, and one evening after the completion of the service he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

A Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable homes, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand.

He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. Finally he said that if she would be at home some evening during the week he would call.

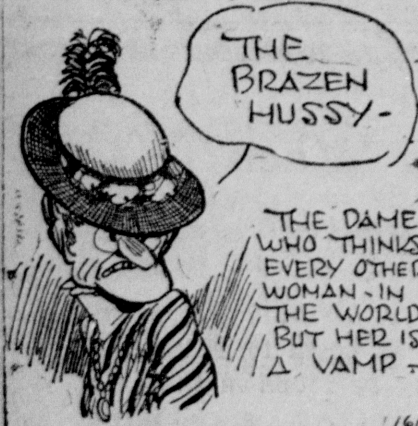

"Thank you," she murmured bashfully, "but Ay have a fella."

At the golf links, Joseph A. Harron of Ogontz Hills, near Philadelphia, was accompanied by his six-year-old son and contented himself with watching instead of playing. What interested his boy most was the way other boys went through the tall grass, picked up "lost balls" and got ten cents apiece for them. The lad disappeared but soon returned with a ball which he offered at the club headquarters for ten cents. "That boy of yours has a head for business," said an attendant, turning to Mr. Harron, who had just come up. "I don't know about that," said Mr. Harron. "Those balls cost me $1.10 each. If my son sells them to the club for ten cents, where do I come in?" Investigation showed that the ball had been taken out of Mr. Harron's supply in the locker room and not out of the tall grass.

TRIP OF BARONESS ENDS IN JAIL ON BORDER RECENTLY

Albuquerque, N. M.—From a castle on the Rhine to a dirty cell in the dilapidated county Jail at Albuquerque, New Mexico, is a synopsis of the story of the aged Baroness Victoria Wolff von Tottenworth the last chapter of which was written here when agents of the Department of Justice arrested her for entering the United States without a passport as she stepped from the train which carried her from the Mexican border. With her was her son, Erwin Dathe, former German army officer.

The mother and son sailed from Germany on a Dutch steamer, landing at Vera Cruz, Mexico. They traveled by rail to Juarez, Mexico, just across the international bridge from El Paso Texas. Learning that they could not obtain passports they walked along the banks of the Rio Grande and crossed the border north of El Paso, according to the story of immigration agents.

The fifty-mile hike between Juarez and Las Cruces, New Mexico over the mountains and across desert stretches was made with extreme difficulty. Dathe was forced to carry his aged mother time and time again when her feet refused to carry her through the deep desert sand. They said that the only hope of starting life anew in the United States carried them on.

Husband Lost Fortune
The baroness told immigration officers that the first installment of her misfortune came when she learned that her husband had gambled away their fortune at Monte Carlo. He committed suicide and left his titled wife alone to face eviction from their home. At this time their son was stationed in China. As soon as his discharge could be obtained he joined his mother in Hamburg, Germany, and they left for the United States with just enough money to pay their fare here.

"Living is impossible in Germany," said the baroness, as she pleaded with officers to be allowed to remain here. "I am a good cook.
I would rather be a cook in America than depend for my living on my friends in Germany."

EXPECT SCHOOLS OF COUNTY WILL ENROLL 5,000

An anticipated attendance of about 5,000 pupils in the county schools, part of which began their opening semester Monday, is the estimate of County Superintendent H. C. Aultman.

The new law which requires children to attend school between the ages of 5 and 18 unless they are granted employment certificates showing that they are permanently employed all of the time is expected to cause the greatest increase in the number of pupils in the county. There are now 1,500 pupils in the schools and strict attendance during the new semester is expected to raise the number to 5,000.

Rules were issued Monday, by the County Superintendent governing the attendance of pupils. Children enter school and remain until 18 unless local school boards, because of roads and weather conditions, fix the beginning age at seven years. From the first day of school until the last day, pupils are required to be regular in attendance. No excuse may be granted to work on the farm or at home, even temporarily.

For full time employment which permits them to obtain employment certificates at the age of 16 years releasing them from the school attendance law, children must be 16 years of age; must have passed the seventh grade of school; and if the child's health is delicate, the child must have a doctor's certificate.

The three assistant superintendents are authorized to see to it that the provisions of the attendance law are enforced. The school organization in the county will be the same as last year with the exception that the County Probation Officer, J. E. Watts, will act as attendance officer in all troublesome and extreme cases.

The county schools that opened Monday morning, were Xenia township, Ross township, Osborn, Cedarville, Jefferson township, Cedarville township, Clifton, Beaver Creek township, Bath township, Jamestown and Silver Creek township.

The rest of the county schools, including Spring Valley, Sugar Creek township, including Bellbrook, New Jasper and Yellow Springs school will open next Monday. The list of teachers in the village, centralized and one-room schools in the county includes 170 names this year, according to the announcement of Superintendent Aultman.

BELGIUM TRYING TO CONSERVE ITS CHILDHOOD NOW

Washington.—Belgium is working out a programme for the conservation of childhood according to information reaching the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. How intelligence, determination and united effort triumph over conquest, war and famine is vividly portrayed in a paper read at the second International Conference on the Protection of Childhood, recently held in Brussels, by Dr. Rene Sand of the University of Brussels, a copy of which has reached Washington.

According to this paper, even during the years of occupation, when the Government had left Belgium soil and the only central co-ordinating agency was the voluntary Comité National, public health activities were started on a hitherto unknown scale, and for the first two years there was an actual decline in infant mortality. Dr. Sand accounts for this in part by the cessation of industrial work for women.

Retarded Full Year
The average Belgian child was, at the time of the armistice, one full year backward in normal development; the weight of the average Brussels schoolboy was three pounds below normal, while the average school-girl was seven pounds below normal.

The first step in the medical reconstruction of industry was the establishment of an independent Labor Medical Service, which includes in its function the protection of expectant mothers and nursing working women and the care of the health of working children. The service immediately formulated a constructive programme which enlisted the co-operation of all agencies concerned in the promotion of public health including the health of working mothers and their children.

In the United States eighteen States provide for the physical examination of every child entering industry, but no State has provided for examinations of working children at regular intervals. Belgium has adopted the advanced programme of a medical examination for every juvenile not later than a month after it has entered an industrial occupation, to be repeated once a year until the child reaches eighteen, and oftener in case of disease.

Working Youth Protected

Belgium has realized that health protection in the community must go hand in hand with health protection in industry, and Dr. Sand emphasizes the following points. General public health work, child welfare housing, the restriction of alcohol consumption and education and recreation both for adults and children.

A national children's board has been established, which is maintained by public and private funds. The child welfare programme includes the periodical free examination of children under three years of age, brought by their mothers for examination; the establishment of free medical dispensaries for expectant mothers, the diffusion of knowledge relating to infant health and maternal nursing, and the supervision of boarded-out children under seven years of age. The cost of child welfare work is borne one half by the State, one-fourth by the province and one-fourth by the municipality.

SHIMMY DANCED LONG

AGO, SO IS O. K'd

London.—Only a few weeks back the Association of Dancing Masters pronounced an edict against the shimmy. Now three hundred professors of dancing, in solemn convocation, have declared that the dance, artistically danced and tastefully subdued, is as proper in every sense of the word as the fox trot, the one step, or the tango.

The professors say the shimmy and similar dances are of ancient origin, the shimmy having been "shaken" at the Court of Henri Quatre.

A BATHING SUIT DISCUSSION CHAPTER 30

When she heard that "yes, Mumsie," Margaret smiled. The hesitation told of a conflict, in Joan's mind; it also told of triumph for her, Joan's mother. But, tactful as usual, Margaret made no mention of Joan's actions, but chatted of her school, their coming trip during Joan's vacation and other things.

"Where shall we go dear? To the mountains?"

"No, let's go to the shore somewhere, Mumsie. I want to learn to swim."

"So do I! The shore it is."

"You—want to learn to swim?"

"Yes, dear."

Joan said no more and Margaret registered triumph number two.

After they finished dinner Margaret spoke of several places they might spend a month or two, and finally they settled upon a resort in Maine, and she wrote for reservations.

"I will order the material for our bathing suits tomorrow. I think I shall make them. What color would you like, Joan?"

"SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS"

"Oh, a dark blue! It doesn't make much difference. I want a one-piece suit. I stopped in at Gloria's the other day and she has a dandy."

"Very well, although I think the two piece suits far more becoming."

"Who cares about a bathing suit being becoming? I want to swim, not look pretty."

Margaret smiled. She wondered if the next year, when she would be 16 instead of 15, Joan would be so indifferent.

"What color are you going to get, Mumsie, black?"

"No indeed! I want to look well in my suit whether you do or not. I shall either have a suit trimmed with a soft green, or a dark blue and white cap, and some bathing shoes that would go nicely with such a suit, white canvas with blue trimmings."

"You can have all the shoes and stockings you want but don't get any for me. Gloria says none of the smart girls are going to wear them this year. But mother, aren't you afraid you will look silly in such a suit? I should think plain black or dark blue would be better for you."

There was none of Joan's usual determination in her voice, rather an apologetic note, as if she knew her advice would be unacceptable.

"We will each have the sort of a suit we want and see who looks the best. Unless a girl's legs are unusually perfect in shape, and her feet also I think it is rather vulgar to go without shoes and stockings. But of course if girls want to show their imperfections to the world that is their affair."

Neither said more of the bathing suits, but after Joan had gone up stairs Margaret wondered what she could be doing to take so long to get to bed. So she quietly crept up the stairs. The door of Joan's room was ajar, and Joan, almost entirely undressed, was pirouetting before the cheval glass, examining her legs and feet, striking one attitude after another to see them in all positions. Margaret watched, convulsed with laughter. Joan took up first one foot then the other and critically examined them. Then again she strutted before the mirror. What she discovered Margaret could not imagine. To her loving eyes the supple girlish form seemed perfect. But with a gesture of disgust Joan turned away from the glass, and Margaret hurried down stairs fearing her presence would be discovered. In a few moments came the usual nightly call: "All ready, Mumsie!"

Always before Joan slept Margaret sat with her a few moments, then kissed her good night and tucked her in. It was one of the few moments in the day when Joan showed her dependence, when she was a simple unaffected child, loving Margaret and showing it.

"Say, Mumsie I guess I'll have some bathing shoes and stockings. I'll have the new short stockings that roll below the knee. Gloria said they were almost as smart as going without any. And I don't see why I should show everyone my legs and feet even if they are all right and good shape, do you?"

"No, but do as you like about wearing stockings and shoes." In the dark, Margaret smiled. It was like Joan to ignore her mother's suggestion that the costume she had wanted was a bit vulgar and to try to make it appear that it emanated from herself.

Once more had Joan shown her good sense simply because of a suggestion. And once again, as she had done so many times, Margaret said to herself: "She's all right! I haven't made any mistakes."

A Combination That Spells "MORE MILES"

WE are enthusiastic about Dayton Tubes. We know that you can improve the service of any tire if you support it with a Dayton Tube. We know that they are thicker—smoother—finer and stronger. And you yourself can actually see and feel the difference if you get one in your hands. If you need tubes—put in Dayton—in any make of tire.

Dayton Tires & Tubes

We are also enthusiastic about Dayton Pneumatic Tires. For real mileage—rugged, hard service, they haven't an equal. A Dayton Tire will stand up under any kind of service and deliver more than its share of miles—regardless of the kind of tube it has in it.

But the ideal companionship is Dayton Tires equipped with Dayton Tubes—our idea of perfect tire equipment.

We have definite worth-while things to tell you about the construction of Dayton—both tires and tubes. We want you to come in and get the facts. They will be valuable not only to your peace of mind, but also to your bank account.
